

Cables for under water installation

DESCRIPTION

Cables suitable for under water installation, direct burial and has full rodent protection. It attains its mechanical robustness and functional performance through its steel wire armour (SWA) reinforcement. Needs no further protection at under water or underground installations.

The expected service life in normal use exceeds 30 years.

| Product number | Product name                        | Fibre Count | Cable Construction | Cable Diameter |
|----------------|-------------------------------------|-------------|--------------------|----------------|
|                | Cables for under water installation |             |                    |                |

